

Couple's Romance and Sexual Enhancement Seminars

Does your marriage or relationship need a little help healing from wounds caused over time? Are you struggling in the areas of sexual performance causing this to take a toll on your relationship? If your relationship needs healing due to physical, emotional, spiritual or other reasons, we are here to help. There is a natural way, without drugs, to bring about healing in the area of erectile dysfunction disorder and lack of a sex drive for women. Many times this is caused by a lack of cerebral spinal fluid reaching the brain. The route up and down the spine is disturbed due to misalignments of the body. These things can be easily corrected with massage by partners for each other. Instead of taking a pill with a host of warnings about your health, wouldn't you rather have peak performance happen naturally without drugs by adjusting the spine?

Aloha, my name is Sarah and I have been practicing massage since I was fifteen. I own a school in Hawaii and do continuing education in my field accredited by the National Certification Board for Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork. I also have a private practice and train couples regularly to help each other throughout their lives.

I want to give you the tools you need to help yourselves overcome many of the problems you are facing, without medications and the fear of their side effects. I have also practiced family counseling, spiritual Biblical counseling and marriage counseling for many years. Many times I have found that couples have lost the joy and spark of their relationship due to small hurts that have been pushed down inside over the years. These little blocks of unforgiven events build walls between people that can be easily removed through a simple technique I have used for years in counseling. My goal is to help you rebuild your relationship on all levels.

I will share one story from my years of counseling. A woman came to me after about ten years of marriage in despair. She said she could no longer feel any love for her husband. She did not want to lose her marriage and was already involved with another man due to the emptiness she felt inside regarding her relationship. She had two children and did not want to break the family up. She explained she could not go on feeling nothing but resentment towards her husband. While counseling I asked her, "Did you love your husband when you got married?" To this she replied, "Well, of course." I answered, "Where do you think that love has gone now?" I then proceeded to take her through a process of dealing with her anger and resentment. She began to cry and asked for the phone at the end of the session. I asked her why she needed it and she replied, "I love my husband so much I just have to call him right now and talk to him." She went back to her husband and a few months later I met him. He gave me a huge hug and thanked me for his wife back. He said he didn't know what I did but whatever it was it healed their marriage. He thanked me in tears. This was 16 years ago. This couple has just celebrated their twenty fifth wedding anniversary.
